

As working parents we look forward to dinners with our family and actually resent solicitors who take advantage of that time with pleas for one thing or another. The tougher the mandate for DO NOT CALL, the better. My ground delivery mail and my computer are deluged with interruptions. Please continue to protect my phone number and, especially, our dinner hour! Nancy Michalov